Corporate Sustainability Due Diligence Directive Adopted by the European Parliament

PwC \(05.27.2024\)

- EU officially adopted the " Corporate Continuous Due Diligence Directive " ( CSDDD ) on May 24 , 2024. The subsequent CSDDD 's mandatory environmental and human rights due diligence obligations will be implemented and apply to regulated enterprises.
- Enterprises should take appropriate risk-based measures to identify, assess, prevent, mitigate and terminate (or minimize) potential and actual risks of environmental damage and human rights violations in their operations in the supply chain, and incorporate the result into corporate policies and track the effectiveness of due diligence measures. In addition, companies should establish relief measures such as victim complaint mechanisms.
- In addition, the regulated companies should develop a "climate sustainability transformation plan" to ensure that their operating models and strategies are consistent with the goals of the Paris Agreement.

BSI Called for Cross-sector Cooperation to Address Climate Change in an All-round Way and Promote Changes in ISO Standards

BSI Taiwan \(05.28.2024\)

- The management system standard amendment statement recently released by IAF/ISO. In ISO standard clauses 4.1 and 4.2 , organizations will be required to explain whether they consider external and internal issues that will bring by climate change and their effects on the management system, including the needs and expectations of stakeholders, and incorporate them into the organization's objectives and risk assessments.
- BSI recommends that organizations should start thinking about climate change issues in accordance with the division of their departments' respective duties and responsibilities and initiate interdepartmental communication.

1 OSE Sustainability Art Gallery – Artworks Collection from 2023 Youth Artistic Power

Continuing our support for the arts and cultural development, talent cultivation and sustainability, OSE has participated in the 2023 Youth Artistic Power, directed by Youth Bureau of Kaohsiung City Government for the second consecutive year.

The project encourages young artists to combine their artistic creations and concepts with the electronics waste materials of our manufacturing process to create the artworks. This year, OSE got the opportunity to collect two artworks that won the Silver Award and the Collection Award respectively after the final selection.

Silver award work: No.55

“No. 55” was created by a young artist using the waste circuit boards, iron wires, immortal moss and so on, incorporating reflections on climate change, biodiversity loss and other sustainability issues to create a unique planet-like round shape artwork. When you look at the interior of the planet through illumination, you will find that circuit boards and moss are used to simulate the urban landscape. The combination of art and technology presents the pulse of the city and the beauty of nature, inspiring everyone to pay attention to the issue of environmental sustainability.

Collection Award Work: Dance of Man and Bird

“Dancing with Birds: A Miracle of Technology” was a fully utilizing of waste circuit boards, stone powder, wood and so on that combines the development of science and technology with reflections on time and life. The wings symbolize the ability of technology, allowing humans to dream.

2 It's OSE's 53rd Anniversary! Happy Birthday!

June 12, 1971 is the day when OSE was established. We have gone through 53 straight years to now.

Thanks to all the partners for your support and trust, which allow OSE to carry on steadily and continuously.

We will continue to uphold the entrepreneurial spirit and business philosophy of "integrity & sustainability", take care of employees, serve customers, be considerate of society, and keep investing in the technology industry and the future generations, so to create a better social environment.
